The Bankrupt Department.
WASHINGTON, May 27.—The "bankrupt department" is what Commissioner Colman of the public service is commended, since the revelation was made that funds were nearly exhausted more than months before the end of the fiscal year. Speaking of the efforts to get out of the Mr. Colman said: "I am cutting down force in every direction, so that we can get out just even at the end of the fiscal year. If I cannot do it in that way I shut up the department, for we would never do to run over."

the hall and stairways filled with stores. They escaped by jumping from a second-story window. The house was entirely destroyed, and all of its contents, including a law library of 5,000 volumes, and valued at $5,000. The house was valued at $15,000 and its other contents at more than $25,000, partly covered by insurance.

VICTIMS OF THE FEVER.

MORE DEATHS AT PLYMOUTH, AND THE SCOURGE SPREADING.

Outbreak at Capital and Labor, in Factory and Mill, in the Field, on the Railroads and Down in the Mines. Among the Salmon Fishers.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 27.—The hopeful feeling that had been raised in Plymouth by the light death toll for the past few days has given way once more to profound despondency. No death occurred on Friday, but since morning ten victims have been numbered. Among them was John R. Lynch, one of Plymouth's best known merchants. He leaves a widow and ten children. Two married women, the mothers of large families, were also among the dead—Mrs. William Mayer and Mrs. Jane Nesbitt. The distress is hourly increasing.

Four Plymouth physicians reported eleven new cases, brought about largely, they believe, by the hot weather. Despite the utmost endeavors of the physicians and the relief committee it is almost impossible to get the people to take the least steps in a sanitary way to ward off the epidemic. Filth and dirt about almost plentifully as when the epidemic broke out and the most criminal carelessness is shown. The village of Fawn, situated in the mountains, two miles from Plymouth, has experienced an outbreak of the epidemic. There are thirty or forty cases there, and two deaths have occurred. The hospital now contains forty-four patients who are being attended by a corps of physicians and nurses brought from Philadelphia. As soon as accommodations can be provided more of the sick will be taken to the hospital, as it is the only place where they can receive proper attendance and care. As yet no deaths have taken place in the hospital, but there are several patients who are in the last stage and who are not expected to live. More money is greatly needed, and the relief committee is issuing another appeal to the country.

Striking Fishermen Resume Work.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 27.—The hundreds of fishermen who have been participating in the strike among the various large canning establishments along the Lower Columbia river have finally accepted the original terms offered and gone to work. The cannery proprietors offered fifty cents for every fish caught and delivered. The fishermen declined the terms and demanded seventy-five cents. Finding the canners would not concede their demands, the fishermen yielded and resumed work. It is thought no further trouble will occur during the season. About 1,800 men are now employed, catching salmon. A one time the authorities feared very serious trouble from the strikers, who made threats that they would burn the city of Astoria and remove the lives of its citizens. The grand jury has just returned indictments against a number of fishermen for violent and riotous proceedings.

Colored Ku-Klux in Georgia.

FAIRBURN, Ga., May 27.—Considerable excitement exists in this section owing to troubles between colored laborers. The approach of cotton-picking time always gives employment to more hands than can usually be obtained. To meet this demand large numbers of men have been brought from Atlanta and other places. The colored men, who have organized for the purpose of driving them out. The plantation of O. H. Cochran was visited by about forty masked negroes, who warned the strangers at work there, eight in number, to leave, which they did in quick order. Other plantations have been similarly visited, and the strangers are all leaving and under threats made against them.

Striking Saw-Mill Hands.

HANNIBAL, Mo., May 27.—The strike among the employees of the Hannibal saw-mill company remains practically the same. The company will make no concession and it is claimed the profit is so small at present that it pays better to let the mill stand idle than to raise the wages. Two hundred employees are out of employment. The men in one lumber yard talk of striking but have not decided to do so yet. The Northwestern laid off seventy-five men, and other yards will begin laying off men this week on account of dull business.

A Legislator Aiding Strikers.

HANNIBAL, Mo., May 27.—A delegation of the Beaver strikers, headed by Hon. D. D. Richards, member of the legislature, are in the city. It is understood the object of the visit is to endeavor to persuade the train men to refuse to move loads of coal from Beaver mines. It is said that the railroad men are favorable to the strikers, but their probable action in the matter can not be learned.

The Rio Grande Strike.

DENVER, Col., May 27.—Receiver Jackson, of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the person or party who employed to blow up the Rio Grande passenger train near Denver. There is nothing now in regard to the explosion. The strikers did not hold their customary mass meeting, and all is quiet regarding the strike.

SP.EDING SCULLS.

Particulars of the Various Shell Races at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—The international rowing regatta, under the management of the St. Johns club, has commenced. The first race, amateur double sculls was won by the Delaware club, of Chicago, the Gaveston club second. Time 9:40 1/2.

In the second race, professional single scull, eight entries, three miles with a start, Gardner took the lead, which he held until turning the stake, closely pressed by Tenner and Houston. Gardner turned the stake a length ahead of Tenner. Shortly after the turn Tenner spurred and passed Gardner, coming home a winner by two lengths.

The third and last race, for amateur four-oared sculls, one and one-half miles with a start, was won by the St. Johns club, beating the Louisiana club. Time 10:44.

Tenner's time is the next best on record to that said to have been made by Courtney. At the tenth session of the general conference of the United Brethren church, at Foston, O., R. V. Lantz was elected editor of Bandway School literature, to succeed the Rev. E. J. and Rev. Dr. Miller was elected manager of the Union Biblical Bazaarary a Layman, O.
